CURRENT OZONE REGULATIONS

Currently, the Central Valley must meet BOTH regulations!

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>1-Hour Standard</th>
<th>8-Hour Standard</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>124 PPB (parts per billion)</td>
<td>84 PPB (parts per billion)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- Revoked by EPA in 2005, then reinstated by the Federal Courts
- Compliance Deadline: Nov. 2010
- Noncompliance Fine: $29 million
  - Set to increase each year the Central Valley is noncompliant.
- Central Valley violations:
  - 1990s: 74 violations
  - 2010: 7 violations (lowest on record)

- Current regulation
- Compliance Deadline: 2023
- The Central Valley is working to come into compliance with this standard.

- Central Valley violations -
  - 2003: 134 violations (highest on record)
  - 2010: 49 violations (lowest on record)

Summer 2011, this standard will replace the current 8-Hour standard. Then, it will apply to the Central Valley along with the 1-Hour standard.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>8-Hour Standard</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>60-70 PPB (parts per billion)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- New standard proposed by EPA in January 2010
- Expected Implementation: Summer 2011
- Expected Compliance Deadline: 2031
- Would result in banning fossil fuel combustion and a de facto ban on new business
The Commonsense Ozone Regulations Act

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>REPEALS</th>
<th>LEAVES IN PLACE</th>
<th>POSTPONES</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Central Valley would no longer be required to meet this standard or pay the $29M fine.</td>
<td>The Central Valley would be required to work toward meeting this standard.</td>
<td>EPA would be postponed from implementing this regulation for 5 ½ years when it is finalized in the Summer of 2011 to study feasibility.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1-Hour Standard
124 PPB (parts per billion)
- Revoked by EPA in 2005, then reinstated by the Federal Courts
- Compliance Deadline: Nov. 2010
- Noncompliance Fine: $29 million
  - Set to increase each year the Central Valley is noncompliant.
- Central Valley violations:
  - 1990s: 74 violations
  - 2010: 7 violations (lowest on record)

8-Hour Standard
84 PPB (parts per billion)
- Current regulation
- Compliance Deadline: 2023
- The Central Valley is working to come into compliance with this standard.
- Central Valley violations -
  - 2003: 134 violations (highest on record)
  - 2010: 49 violations (lowest on record)

8-Hour Standard
60-70 PPB (parts per billion)
- New standard proposed by EPA in January 2010
- Expected Implementation: Summer 2011
- Expected Compliance Deadline: 2031
- Would result in banning fossil fuel combustion and a de facto ban on new business